

Document, Radiology and Mammography Digitalization

The Quinlan Companies offer several solutions that can save time, money and generate revenue. By outsourcing your digitizing requirements to The Quinlan Companies, we can provide your requested digitized materials when you need them at a competitive price.

Benefits of Quinlan's Digitizing services:

- Reduction in hospital staff needed to digitize and index patient information
- Hospital does not have to purchase expensive capital equipment
- Hospital has an option to store images on the PACS and/or keep the files as hard copies
- Quinlan Vault – proprietary easy to use inventory control and on-line ordering
- Compliant with HIPAA security regulations
- Digitize right to your PACS or pull images through our Vault into your PACS or storage server.

Document Digitalization

Document imaging moves information management from paper to digital technology. It converts paper documents into electronic images on a computer that can be retrieved effortlessly in seconds. The Quinlan Companies can perform this service and image your current stored documents to CDs or make the files available via the Web.

Scanned images are available using convenient retrieval methods. Images can be sent directly to the requestor as an email attachment or posted on a web archive where it can be retrieved on-line.

Radiology Digitalization

Scanning and electronically storing every one of your existing radiology records is costly and often unnecessary. Digitizing on Demand provides a cost-effective conversion solution for radiology films required on an as needed basis.

Rather than going through the expensive process of scanning all radiology films. You can store your radiology records at The Quinlan Companies and you need only to request the specific x-ray and we will digitize on demand. Storing with The Quinlan Companies allows you to have what you need digitized and when your radiology film reaches its required storage lifecycle our reclamation services will follow HIPAA guidelines and see that these records are completely destroyed.

Mammography Digitalization

Transitioning to digital mammography can be costly and take years to complete. The Quinlan Companies offer a solution that can save time, money and frees up storage areas for other services. By outsourcing your off-site mammography storage and digitizing needs to The Quinlan Companies we are able to store your mammography for a low monthly cost. When you need a study we can provide the mammography back to you as requested. This Digitized On Demand process allows you the flexibility to digitize only what you need and when you need it.